

Ultrasound and fetal MRI showing a cystic image at the lumbosacral level with the absence of a placode and an osseous spur protruding into the medullary canal dividing the medullary cone in two.